

SCSMUG

September 14, 2010

Apple's Find Out How Web Site

<http://www.apple.com/findouthow/mac/>

The Apple web site has a number of video tutorials on various topics for the Mac user.

The Documents Folders

There are two folders named Documents

One is in the root directory and each user's home directory contains one.

The one in the root directory is global and can be accessed by any user.

The one in the user's home directory can be accessed only by the individual user.

WolframAlpha Web Site

<http://wolframalpha.com>

Query's should be numeric in nature i.e. technical data or statistics.

- What time was sundown in Las Vegas, NV on July 4, 1932?
- What was is the population of Paris, Texas?
- Enter any date
- Enter any city
- Enter any two stocks
- Enter any calculation

- Enter any math formula e.g. $4.0 * \text{Atan}(1.0)$
- How much vitamin C in a bowl of ice cream?
- How far is it from Moscow to Vladivostok?

There is an iPod/iPhone/iPad app available from the iTunes store for $0.99.

SCSCC Web Site

Handouts from previous presentations are available on the SCSCC web site.

<http://www.scs-cc.com/>

Click on: All Handouts then SCSCC SIGs then scroll down to “SCS MUG.”

Tuesday February 12, 2008

- Thumb Drives
- Mac's Disk Utility diskutil. It is in the /Applications/Utilities folder
- The Mouse
- Free True Type Fonts
- Highlight Colors in the Finder
- Printing the Contents of a Folder

Tuesday July 22, 2008

- Copying and moving files and folders
- Using iDVD to make DVDs that are playable in a set-top DVD player (attached to a TV)

Jan 27 2009

- Creating and Exporting Slideshows with iPhoto, iMovie and iDVD

May 12, 2009

- Apple's Online Support

November 10, 2009

- Working with Fonts
- Using Grab to Capture Screen or Window Images
- Using TextEdit to work with with Microsoft Word files
- Drag and Drop on the Dock

January 26, 2010

- Security