 - President/Webmaster/Editor SCV Computer Club in SoCal

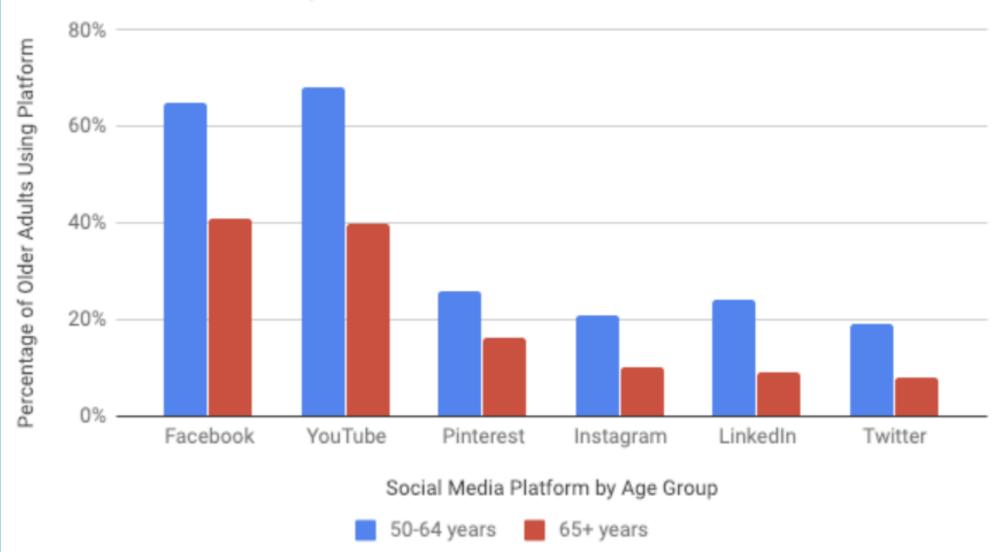

What is Social Media?

- Websites, apps, and services that host a community of users and make it easy for them to communicate with one another using their computers, smartphones, or tablets.
- Being social and encouraging social interactions by sharing:
 - Messages
 - Information
 - Pictures
 - Videos
- Fun to learn about what friends have been doing
- Back in the day, it was exchanging letters
- Then came email
 - Now you can write a single post

Social Media Used by Seniors

Social Media Use by Older Adults

Social Media Used by Seniors

- 2018 Pew Institute study
- Why is this data important?
 - When you select a social media platform you want to choose one or more that are used by friends and family and that are popular with your age group.

Age Group	Facebook	YouTube	Pinterest	Instagram	LinkedIn	Twitter
50-64 years	65%	68%	26%	21%	24%	19%
65+ years	41%	40%	16%	10%	9%	8%

Why Use Social Media?

- Friends and family who want to stay in touch
- People looking for long-lost friends
- Hobbyists looking for others who share their interests
- Keeping up with the latest news and events
 - Share opinions on those events
- Can interact with large numbers of people without interacting with each one personally
- Effective and efficient communication

Fact vs. Fiction

- False information thrives online
- Links to news stories, web pages, wild claims, and hoaxes that don't seem right
- Someone posts the latest piece of misinformation and, seconds later, it can spread around the world.
- Going viral circulated via social media to a large number of people

Fact vs. Fiction

- Just because someone says something doesn't make it true
 - Fake news
 - Outright lies
 - Conspiracy theories
 - Propaganda
 - Biased News
 - Opinions
- Read it before you share it
- Check it out before you share it

Fact vs. Fiction

- Always consider the source
- Verify with multiple sources
 - Snopes
 - Media Bias/Fact Check
 - Truth or Fiction
- If someone questions it, remove it
- Bottom line be careful about what you share on social media

What to Share & Not to Share

- Keepit
 - Short
 - To the point
 - Casual
 - All CAPS is still considered yelling
- Don't get sloppy
 - Use good grammar and punctuation
 - Don't have to use full sentences
 - OK to use common abbreviations and acronyms
 - LOL BTW.....
- It's not a blog post

How Often Should I Post?

- Social media creates communities
 - To be a member you need to actively participate
 - Wait too long between posts and people will forget about you
- Post too frequently
 - Overbearing or annoying
 - Wear out your welcome
- Facebook once a week / few times a day
- Twitter Several times a day
- Pinterest Few pins a day

How Often Should I Post?

- Facebook Take a look at the posts in your news feed
- Look at those friends whose posts you look forward to
- As opposed to those you get tired of reading
- The person who leaves you asking for more probably has the frequency

Posting Things That People Want to Read

- It's not all about you ;-)
- If you only post about yourself, you might be Unfriended
- AKA keep your audience in mind
- Post things
 - That are important to you and your friends
 - That your friends and family want to know about
 - Major life events
 - Important news updates
 - News about your spouse, partner, other family members
 - Mutual friends

Posting Things That People Want to Read

- Post things (cont.)
 - Important news about other family members (with their permission)
 - Mutual friends start the chain by posting what you know and let your other friends pass it on to their friends
 - Interesting thoughts you've earned your opinions
 - Links to news stores your friends will find interesting

Probably Shouldn't Share Online

- Social networks are meant to be social
- Because everything is public you can do a lot of damage to yourself by posting something stupid
 - Happens all the time
 - Posting a picture of you holding a cigarette could be used by your insurance company to raise your health insurance rates.
 - Same goes with content
- Do you want to get into an argument about something you posted?

10 Things to Avoid when Posting Online

- 1. Don't post if you don't have anything to say
- 2. Don't pick a fight
- 3. Don't post anything that could be used against you
- 4. Don't post over personally information
- 5. Don't gripe
- 6. Don't post personal contact information
- 7. Don't post your constant whereabouts
- 8. Don't post rumors, hoaxes, and urban legends
- Don't post about people without their permission
 10.Don't post sensitive information

Commenting on a Post

- Do comment when input is asked or encouraged
- Don't join if your comment is just a "Me to" or "You bet"
- Do comment if you have knowledge or useful information to share
- Do join to support a friend—sometimes a comment can be like a virtual hug
- Don't join a conversation just to cause trouble
- Do make a comment if you can move it forward, by providing additional information of viewpoint
- Don't join just to hijack it in a different direction

To Share or Not to Share

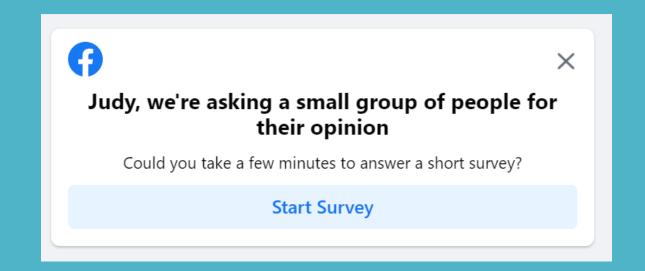

- You have a post on your page that you think your friends might find interesting
 - Link to an informative web page
 - Cute photograph or video
 - Share the link with your friends (Twitter retweeting)
- Do share what you think your friends might find interesting
- Don't share what you know they won't find interesting
- Do share items friends might not have seen
- Don't share what you have seen several times

To Share or Not to Share

- Do share funny videos
 - If they made you laugh, they will probably give your friends a laugh
- Don't share what you haven't independently verified
- Do share posts from friends and relatives, if they are relevant
- Don't share photos of people who don't want their pictures shared
- Don't share any private information you know
- Ask before you share your grandchildren's photos—make sure the location information has been deleted

- Even if your best friend posts a survey, don't participate
- Possibility of sharing too much information

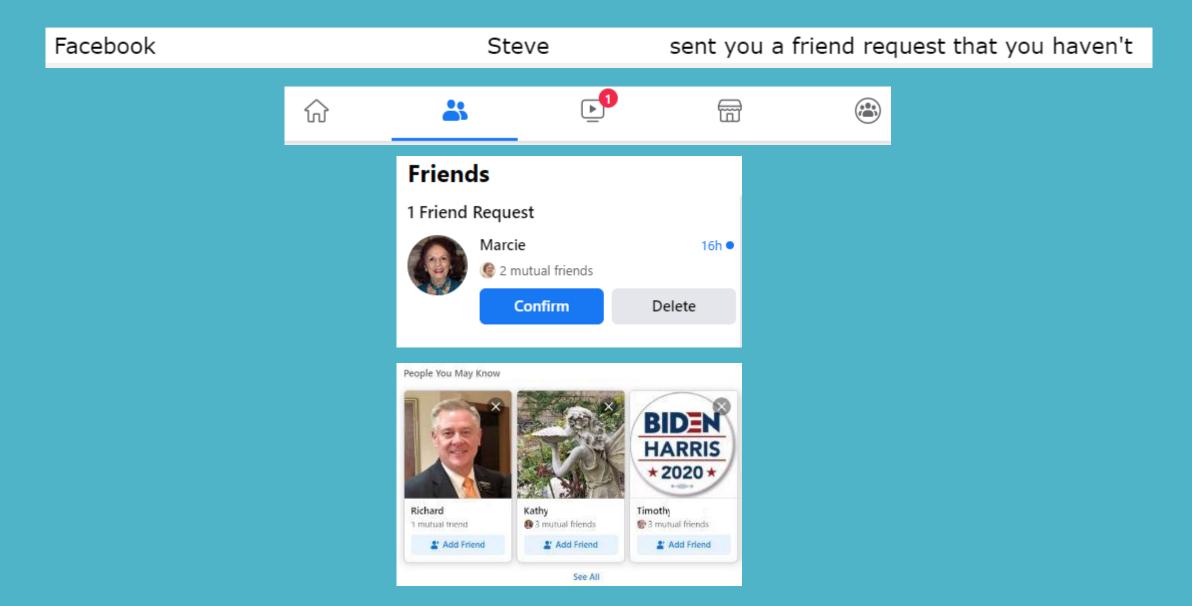

When to Tag

- Tagging = identifying people in a picture that has been posted online
- Not everyone wants to be identified online
- Tagging a person makes the photo visible to all of that person's friends—even if he/she doesn't want to them to see it
- Tagging a person without permission can cause all sorts of problems
- Bottom line Ask first before tagging

Probably Shouldn't Share Online

- Consider the Golden Rule
- When posting to social media, following the online golden rule: Post only about others as you would have them post about you. If you can't say something nice, don't say anything at all.
- As a wise friend once said....Don't post anything on social media you wouldn't hang on your front door for everyone to see.

Instagram – Sharing Photos

- Mobile app for smartphone or tablet & a social network
- Much more popular among younger users
 - People in their 20s and 30s take a lot more photos and videos
- After you download and install the appropriate app
 - Set up your user profile
 - Link to your other social media accounts
- Photos and videos taken by friends appear in your Instagram feed

Instagram – Sharing Photos

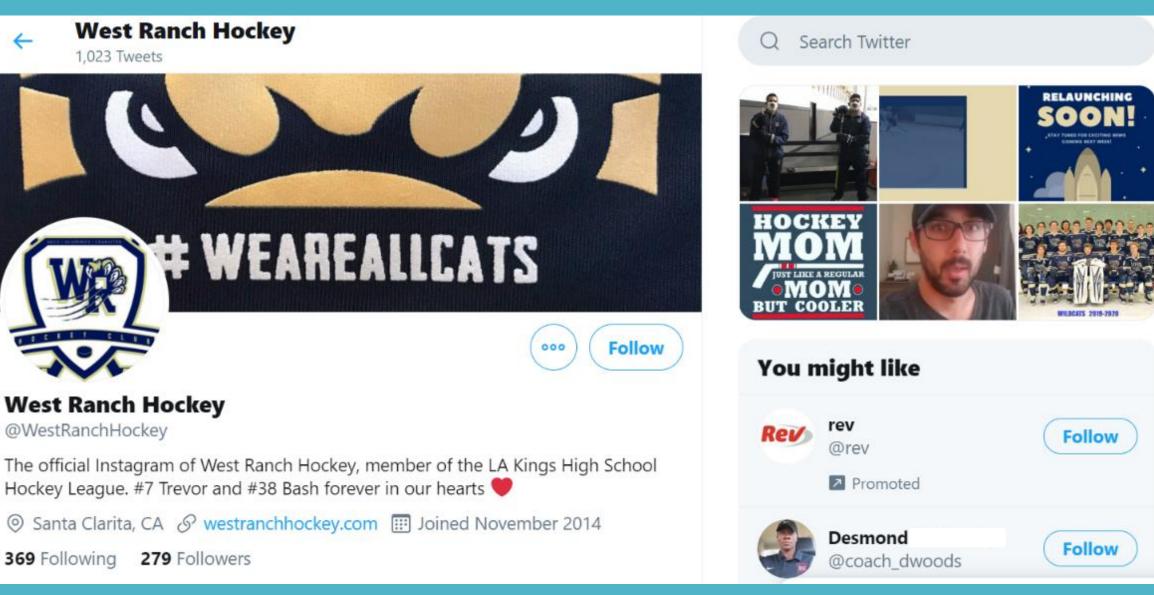

- Twitter is a 'microblogging' system that allows you to send and receive short posts called tweets.
- Keeping up with what's going on in the world
 - Tweets posted by others
- When you mention other Twitter users in your tweets
 - Name becomes clickable
 - Clicking the name displays user's Twitter profile summary
 - Type an @ sign before their name; Twitter lists matching users

- Twitter uses hashtags (#) to function as key words
 - Helps others find relevant tweets when searching for a certain topic
 - Tweets usually include one or more hashtags
- 280 characters in a tweet
- Include up to 4 photos, a GIF, or a video in your tweet
- Can add your location to a tweet

Nextdoor from Canyon Crest-across from Todd Longshorse park.

Solicitor. How many of you had a bearded nan in khaki shorts and a ball cap knock on their door tonight without telling you what he wanted? He was holding a clipboard of some sort and typing on his phone. (No mask, either) I ask what he wants. He asks for the homeowner, continuing to type on his phone and not really look at me. I ask what it's about, he repeats that he wants to talk to the homeowner. I ask regarding what? Still typing, he does a condescending chuckle then walks away. I ask why he's knocking on my door without telling me what it's about. "I asked a simple question and I didn't get an answer." I replied, "Nor did I!" So strange. No vehicle seen. Person 1 Hair: white? ball cap, lightish, reddish hair, beard Top: Greyshirt Bottom: khaki shorts Shoes: unk Age: 30 Sex: m Race: Caucasian Build: medium Other: carrying some type of clipboard, constantly typing on phone
